Overview:

The College of Science and Humanities (COSH) offers undergraduate degrees in Animal Studies, Biology, Education, Exercise Science, Healthcare Administration and Public Health, Health Sciences, Liberal Studies, Nutrition and Health, Pre-Medicine, Psychology, and Wildlife Biology and Conservation. Through its majors, the college educates students for immediate entry into a rewarding career field or graduate study elsewhere. It also houses the Graduate Counseling Program. In addition, through the general education curriculum overseen by the college, COSH anchors the mission and vision of the university by providing the basic knowledge and skills essential for succeeding in any Husson program.

Vision:

The College of Science and Humanities prepares students to thrive as curious, compassionate, and capable leaders. Through rigorous academic work and a commitment to ethical and evidence-based inquiry, students begin their journey toward meaningful careers, graduate study, and a lifelong pursuit of knowledge. As the cornerstone of Husson's general education program, we foster intellectual foundations and critical skills essential for personal enrichment, civic engagement, and professional integrity.

Mission:

The College of Science and Humanities empowers students through knowledge and critical thinking to become engaged, successful professionals in a rapidly changing world.
