

PROFESSIONAL HEALTH SCIENCES

Professional Health Sciences Degree

This fully online BS in Professional Health Sciences degree offers a flexible curriculum featuring the latest professional practices and insights in professional health fields. This program will set students up for successful admission into professional graduate-level work such as Occupational Therapy and Physical Therapy. This program is versatile yet focused on preparing students for graduate work in the health sciences. Our fully online program will connect students with graduate-level professionals that will help create networks, support accredited professional health program.

Our curriculum emphasizes practical skills and theoretical knowledge, preparing graduates for the healthcare industry's challenges. You'll also have opportunities to network with your peers and expert faculty, thus creating a community of connections that will benefit you both now and well into the future.